

how automated do you want your home

You wouldn't think of watching television without your remote control, so perhaps you should add the following Automated/High Tech features to your home check list:

- TV cable/high-speed Internet hookups in enough rooms
- Wiring for DSL or high-speed Internet connection
- Networking – wired or wireless with a single Internet connection
- Telephone jacks/extensions
- Home theater with surround sound and space for large-screen TV
- Whole-house or multi-room Audio/Video system
- Unobtrusive control panels
- Inconspicuous in-wall or ceiling speakers
- In-wall wiring that can be reconfigured as technology changes
- Security System (other an locks, animals) Did you know there's a break- in six times every minute with a more than $1,000 loss, and a great majority of those break-ins happen in daylight hours!?!)
- Climate Controls – to save on energy bills
- Solar Power Plants
- Whole-house air filters
- Centralized Vacuum systems
- Lighting controls
- Window covering controls
- Voice-command and/or telephone automation of: Lights, Appliances, Security System, Climate Control, Home Theater, Garage Doors, Sprinkler System
